Speaker Bio:

After finishing his Ph.D. of Industrial Catalysis at Tianjin University (first university to teach science and technology in China) in 1989, he went to the University of Twente in the Netherlands and worked there as a post-doc for one year. He did a second post-doc in Nancy of France in the ENSIC (Ecole National Superior of Industrial Chemistry). Dr. Li went back to Tianjin University at the end of 1992 as an Associate Professor where he was promoted to a Full Professor at the beginning of 1994. He became the Chairman of the Department of Catalysis Science and Technology and Coordinator of the Industrial Catalysis Program in 1997. The program was ranked for twice as the 1st in China in 2001 and 2006. He received the most prestigious award to Chinese Young Scientists, “The NSF Award to Outstanding Young Scientist” in 2004, and obtained the most important title for professors in China “The Changjiang Professorship” in 2007. He is now the Associate Editor of Catalysis Today. He is also the Director of Tianjin Key Laboratory on Applied Catalytic Science and Technology. He has published more than 200 scientific papers and his papers have been cited over 3000 times.
